NEW ORDINANCES BEFORE COUNCIL

At the regular meeting of the City Council last Monday evening all membrs answered the roll call and Mayor H. H. Smith presided.

A communication was received from the Board of Fire Commissioners, advising the Council of the resignation of Lieutenant Frank Watson from Station No. 2, as he is moving out of the district. To fill the vacancy, G. H. Coon was appointed, and Clyde Kenyon, of 215 Vista Grande avenue, was accepted as a new member.

A recommendation was received from the Board of Fire Commissioners that the City Council have the police department control and take charge of traffic at the time of a fire, so as to keep outsiders out of buildings and beyond the fire lines.

It was the unanimous decision of the Council to supply the necessary first aid material and medicines for the Station No. 1 new first aid truck. This decision was upon a recommendation from the Fire Commission.

A communication was received from the Merchants' Association, asking the Council to publish an annual financial statement of Daly City, covering the fiscal year July 1 to June 30. The matter was referred to the finance committee. It might be of interest to the people of Daly City to be reminded that there is a statement on file with the City Clerk for previous years, and that any citizen interested has access to this statement at all times. A like copy is also filed with the state controller at Sacramento.

An ordinance describing and providing for the method of procedure for establishing set-back lines was laid over for action at the next regular meeting.

An ordinance amending Section 27 of Ordinance No. 94, entitled "An ordinance providing a system for the assessment, levy and collection of taxes," was introduced, as was also an ordinance dividing the City of Daly City into residence, commercial and industrial districts.

A resolution for the appointment of election officials and designating polling places for the coming city election, to be held on April 14, was read and adopted. Polls will open at 6 A. M. and close at 7 P. M.

J. J. Kennedy, chief of the Fire Department, reported that Station No. 1 is now splendidly equipped with a first aid truck. Working under the advice of the City Council, Chief Kennedy purchased and remodeled the truck into a first aid wagon at a very low cost to the city. He is now working on a very snappy apparatus for Station No. 3. The installing of these two trucks is just another spoke in the wheel of progress and advancement for Daly City.

LOCAL CELEBRATION OF ST. PATRICK'S DAY

The entertainment and dance given on St. Patrick's day each year by Our Lady of Perpetual Help parish will be held next Monday evening, March 17, in the Daly City Auditorium.

The following program has been specially arranged for the occasion by Mr. Edward Cadden, a famous Irish tenor, who specializes in folk songs.

Violin Solo by Master John Trainor, accompanied by Miss Marion Trainor.

Selection of Irish folk songs by Mr. Edward Cadden.

Soprano Solo by Miss Margaret Kneafsey.

Selection of Irish airs, Irish bagpipes, violin and piano, by Mr. Patrick O'Neill and Mr. Dennis O'Neill, accompanied by Miss Lucey.

Tenor Solo by Mr. Joseph McNamara.

Vocal Solo by Jack McAnaw.

Vocal Solo by W. M. McGregor.

Recitation by Jas. J. Mooney.

Selection of Irish folk songs by Edward Cadden.

Selections by Mrs. Millhauser's pupils.

The dance music will be furnished by Del's orchestra, Del himself appearing in person to conduct his famous players.

Doors open at 8. Performance to start promptly at 8:30.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS THEATRE PARTY TO BE HELD MARCH 26

A monster theatre party is to be held by Bethel No. 26, Order of Job's Daughters, at the Daly City Theatre on Wednesday evening, March 6. The main attraction will be four select acts of vaudeville. There will be two shows, one at 7 and one at 9, each feautring the vaudeville, comedy, news reel and main feature. General Admission is 25 cents. Tickets, which you must be sure to get, may be bought from any member of the Bethel, or at the box office on the evening of March 26.

COACHES WORKERS IN TAKING CENSUS

Dr. W. C. Bailey, U. S. Supervisor of Census for the Tenth district of California, held a meeting at the home of J. E. A. Miller, of 455 Irvington street, last Monday morning, to give instructions to the prospective enumerators of the Daly City district and to meet as many of them personally as possible.

Dr. Bailey has charge of this important work covering five counties, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito, and Monterey. This census was approved by an Act of Congress on June 18, 1929.

Those present at the meeting were Mayor H. H. Smith, Mrs. L. Riddell, Mrs. Mae Hawkins, Mrs. A. Braumoeller, Mrs. E. Bolger and Mrs. and Mrs. J. E. A. Miller. Each enumerator is given a special district to cover. There are seventeen precincts in Daly City, divided into six districts, as for municipal elections. These enumerators are to start on ths work April 2, all over the country.

C. Berry, formerly president of the South San Francisco bank will be in charge of distribution and manufacturing census of Judicial Township No. 1, comprising Daly City, South San Francisco, San Mateo and one-half of Burlingame. The enumerators under Mr. Berry will take inventory of all retail business. This is the first time such a census has ever been taken. All infomation received by the enumerators will be kept strictly confidential.

Mayor Smith suggested that through the co-operation of the Municipal Water Company, which has a complete list of all residents, much assistance can be given those engaged in this work.

MERCHANTS' NINE TO PLAY SUNDAY

The Daly City Merchants' baseball team will play their first game of the season next Sunday on the Jefferson high school diamond. The contest will start at 2 o'clock.

Manager Ed. Cavagnaro will have a tough time selecting a lineup for the initial fray. The battery will probably be Randall, pitcher, and D. Aherns, catcher. The new receiver was a member of the Blum Sweet Shop nine in the winter league.

Several classy infielders have promised their services. They are Arnold, C. Aiello, Doyle, Drucker, Enszlin and Rettig. The outfield aggregation is not without its star players. L. Kennedy, M. Plansky, Hawley Cruchoff and Maloney are the mainstays in that department.

MUSICAL SAW SOLOIST AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A saw soloist will demonstrate his ability to extract music from the homely saw next Sunday evening, at 7:45, in Grace Presbyterian church, corner of Hanover and Evergreen. Mr. Art Sutherland is being sent out by the Y. M. C. A., and is an adept on the musical saw. He will play some of the old sacred pieces Sunday. Some of the striking musical contributions of the past week have been by the boys' choir. The boys know how to make themselves heard, and under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Roof they are making enthusiastic progress. With Miss Mildred Swan at the piano and Miss Mildred Roof at the organ, musical duets, combining the dignity of the organ with the vivacious tones of the piano, have rendered the old church hymns unusually attractive. The pastor will continue his topic, "Who is God?"

VISTA GRANDE CAMP, R. N. A. HAS INTRESTING MEETING

A very successful business meeting of the Vista Grande Camp, R. N. A., was held at the home of Mrs. H. H. Smith last Friday evening. After the transaction of business pertaining to the Camp, a game of cards was enjoyed, and some real good talent was discovered by the humming to the accompaniment of radio music. Refreshments were served to the following guests: Mesdames Cochrane, Cliver, Putney, Brush, Gehringer, Twesten, Jorgensen, Burdick, Burgeson, Scott, Headvall, Nelson, Romer, Bryant, Rucker and Smith.

Well Baby Clinic

The Well Baby Clinic, which is being sponsored by the three P. T. A.'s, Woodrow Wilson-Vista Grande, General Pershing and Crocker, will open on Wednesday, March 19, in the Crocker meeting place, the Daly City Theatre building, on Mission street. The clinic will be under the supervision of Mrs. Lohr. The doctor in tendance will be Dr. Hildegarde Henderson. This well baby clinic is for children up to an including 6 years of age.

The First Indication of Spring

They're All With Us!

Hearty accord with the sentiment of the editor of the Record in favoring the election of Arthur J. Dalton, H. H. Smith and Julius Twesten to the City Council at the city election, on April 14, has been expressed by our fellow citizens in a gratifying manner. The double joy of knowing that we are in touch with the best interests of the community and that we have been keen enough to select what appear to be three sure winners is ours. We have been literally bombarded with congratulations for coming out in such an unequivocal way for the returning of these three popular officials to the City Council.

Disagreements with the policy of a paper are frequent and the offended ones never hesitate to let us know of their "sourness." That we should have the rare experience of getting nothing but commendation is indeed noteworthy. That the opinions setting forth the high qualities of the Mayor and two Councilmen who are up for election were not those of a day, but have been formed through the period we have watched the careers of the City Fathers, was recognized by all discriminating citizens of Daly City.

Legislative and administrative functions of a municipality such as Daly City require a certain type of ability, and once we have found men who possess that special knack of governing, we should retain them in office.

Members of the Congress, either in the House of Representatives or in the Senate, are neglible quantities for the first session or two, and only become of value to the nation when they have gotten on to the curves, as the baseball writer might say. So in municipal affairs, only experience brings a man to the acme of perfection, insofar as there is anything approaching such a state in governmental matters.

The late John Fiske, than whom there never was a keener mind in the study of democracy, gave most of his attention to municipalities, as well he might. The hope of the masses is our urban communities. Without the kind of administration that has been given to Daly City by the present Councilmen, and that will be continued with those faithful public servants in office, we should not be the happy people we are.

Taxes are necessary—we would not go so far as to say a necessary "evil," as is frequently done—and the best thing the citizens of our thriving city can do is to see that they get their money's worth for the taxes.

In government, every dollar of yours should bring about an adequate return. That such a condition obtains here is a truism. We know it, and outsiders are aware of it. Daly City, under the present administration, has won praise and approval far and wide.

Only recently a California state official emphasized the achievement of Daly City in giving its citizens full value for the money paid into the treasury. It has a reputation in that regard seldom equalled and nowhere excelled.

We must repeat—we urge upon the electors a continuation of this happy state of affairs by the election of City Councilmen A. J. Dalton, H. H. Smith and Julius Twesten.

ROAD NOT WIDE ENOUGH; BUTCHER HAS TOUGH TIME

To avoid a head-on collission, E. Micco, local butcher, pulled to the side of the road in South San Francisco, about a block from the Virden Packing Company, on Friday of last week. As a result of his action, all four of his tires blew out when his machine hit the railroad tracks. To complicate things still more, his car became stuck fast in the mud in the ditch into which it was precipitated, and he had to get one of the big Virden trucks to tow him out. The only damage done was to the car, Micco being only shocked. The driver who caused all of the trouble drove on is if unaware of what had happened.

MEETING OF COMPANY NO. 5

A meeting of Company No. 5, Daly City Fire Department, was held last Tuesday. Commissioner Augustien, of Company No. 4, was present. An interesting meeting was held. The following were present to answer roll cal: Captain Longo, Lieutenant Stacey, Commissioner Cosbie, Firemen Savelly, Spreckelmeyer, Anderson, Knoll, Felsch and Bolger, and Secretary Reinhart. The company's apparatus has just been overhauled and is now in A1 condition for future use. Captain Stacey asked to be relieved as captain of Company No. 5, for special reasons. His request was granted and Lieutenant Longo was advanced to Captain. Captain Stacey agreed to take the office of Lieutenant.

COUNTY GRAND JURY SELECTED

The names of a new grand jury were announced last week by Judge Geo. H. Buck. The jury to serve during the coming year is made up of the following citizens:

First township—Grace L. Augustien, Daly City; Margaret L. Casey, Colma; A. L. Stockton, Daly City; Theresa S. Altieri, Colma; Julia Sturla, Colma; Ira H. Potter, South San Francisco; Mary E. Eschelbach, South San Francisco; J. C. O'Connor, San Bruno; Alice Laumeister, San Bruno; Josie H. Reardon, Burliname; Mary A. Westkamper, Daly City.

Second township—Annie S. Diehl, Burlingame; Annie E. Pattisson, San Mateo; Mary D. McGuire, San Mateo; May V. Haworth, San Mateo; Mathilda Baer, San Mateo; Asa Hull, San Carlos; Walter O'Brien, Burlingame; Henrietta M. Allen, Burlingame; W. W. Casey, San Mateo; Daniel F. Valentine, Burlingame.

Third township—Alma Labachotte, Redwood City; Mary A. Mason, Menlo Park; William W. Byrne, Woodside; Bertha Murray, Redwood City; J. S. Stubbe, Ravenswood; L. B. Winiger, Redwood City; Mary E. Winter, Redwood City.

Fourth township—Alvin S. Hatch, Half Moon Bay.

Fifth township—Ellen R. Bell, San Gregorio.

JEFFERSON NINE WINS TWO GAMES

By HAROLD MARTIN

The Jefferson high school nine is beginning to show some of their championship ability. Last Friday they defeated Menlo Junior college, 2-0, on the local diamond; and Saturday Lick high was the victim of a 10 to 0 score at Jackson park.

Ralph Enszlin, Jefferson pitcher, was the hero in the Indians' initial win. His triple in the sixth inning with a man on base scored the deciding count.

The contest was a thrilling pitchers battle from the start. Enszlin had the edge over Phillips, Menlo's chucker, in two of the three departments. Their records for the day were as follows, Enszlin, four hits, one walk and ten strikeouts; Phillips, four hits, three walks and six strikeouts.

Hugh Smith, Jefferson's capable catcher, showed promise as a hitter in this game. He collected two singles in as many times at bat. McLachlan led the Menlo batters with two for three.

Jefferson made four hits, two runs and one error; Menlo made four hits, no runs and one error.

The Lick Wilmerding nine did not give the now confident Jeffersonians much competition in the Indians' 10 to 0 win Saturday.

Coach Biaggini tried out a couple of prospective twirlers in this contest. Silvestri and Varni were the young gentlemen that set the opposition on its ears.

Silvestri pitched the first four innings, allowing nary a hit, while striking out six batters. Only three men faced him in each frame. Not to be outdone, Varni took up the reins and for a while it looked like it was going to be a no-hit game. The only safety registered against him was an infield single in the seventh innings. He turned back seven would-be hitters via the strikeout route.

Clouting the ball to all corners of the lot, the Jefferson batters obtained a total of 13 hits. R. Enszlin showed the way with two doubles and a single in four times at bat. Jack Gibbons, first baseman, garnered three safeties in five times at the plate.

Jefferson made thirteen hits, ten runs and one error. Lick was credited with one hit, no runs and fiev errors.

This game gives the fans a chance to compare one of the Peninsul Athletic League teams with Jefferson. San Mateo, one of the favorites to annex the championship, defeated Lick, 17 to 10, about three weeks ago.

This Saturday Jefferson plays San Jose on the local diamond in the first league game. The contest will start at 10 o'clock.

AUTO STALLS ON TRACK AND IS HIT BY STREETCAR

A Ford sedan driven by W. H. Stratton, of Teddy avenue, was hit by a Market Street Railway car at Mission and Citrus avenue last Friday morning. Stratton said he had just stopped at the stop sign and started to go down Mission street, but got on the car tracks and the engine stalled. The street car was 300 or 400 feet from him, but the motorman was unable to stop, and hit Stratton's car full force, throwing it from the track and into the lot. No one was hurt, but Stratton's Ford was pretty badly damaged.

BOARD PROTESTS WATER DIVERSION

At the meeting of the San Mateo county board of supervisors at Redwood City last Monday, the board filed vigorous protest with the state department of public works against the diversion of water from the tributaries of Pescadero creek. According to information received by the board, application has been made to the state for permission to divert water.

In the protest the board cites the danger to Memorial park should the request for diversion of waters be granted. The supervisors explain that the county has expended large sums in the creation of Memorial park through which Pescadero creek flows. They claim that the taking of water from tributaries of the creek would so lower the creek as to place Memorial Park in grave jeopardy from water shortage.

Aside from this they cite the large sums expended at the park by Boy Scouts, who have a summer camp there. It is pointed out that the camp site would have to be abandoned if the water supply is curtailed.

Then the summer colony problem offers another angle of protest. The supervisors say that the colony depends solely upon Pescadero creek for its water supply, and if the supply be cut many people who have invested money in the development of the colony would be seriously injured financially.

The county board demands that the request be refused and the waters in question left undisturbed by commercial diversion. George Dunn, Half Moon Bay publisher, first called the attention of the county to the diversion plan.

Installation of a new system of accounting in the San Mateo county courthouse in Redwood City will be discussed by the county board of supervisors following the board's visit today to Santa Cruz to study a system installed there by the state.

The inspection was decided upon at the supervisors' meeting last Monday and came after a host of complaints from time to time about the present system used by the county. Grand jury experts for many years have condemmed San Mateo's system as antiquiated and permitting of irregularities. The supervisors, at the insistence of District Attorney Franklin Swart, finally decided to do something about it.

The board of supervisors voted to hook up the Community hospital at Beresford with the San Mateo sewer system at a cost estimated to be around $500. City Manager E. P. Wilsey of San Mateo appeared before the board and requested that they hook up with the sewer which the city plans to construct next month.

The board also agreed to pay a prorata monthly rate toward pumping of the sewage. This cost was estimated to be about $5 monthly.

After approval of monthly claims the board adjourned to meet next Monday.

YOUNG FOLKS HAVE GOOD TIME AT SURPRISE PARTY

Miss Jean Darragh was guest of honor at a birthday surprise party on Thursday evening of last week at her home on San Diego avenue. The evening was delightfully spent in dancing and games, after which dainty refreshments were served at a very prettily decorated table, the color scheme being carried out in green and white. Jean received many lovely gifts. The guests were Albert Hanson, Alberta Harper, Gerald Harper, John Sanbrailo, Nick Sanbrailo, Nick Medo, Gertrude Bruins, LeeRoy SoRelle, William Brush, Roger Putney, Florence Kennedy, Mildred Franklin, Dorothy Riddell, Gerald Loper, Jack Darragh, Mildred Mansfelt, Marian Mansfelt, Carl Eagleton, Georgina Eagleton, George Darragh, Lillian Hauptli, Alvin Bruins, Chester Smith, Harry Faulkner, Wesley Peterson, and Jean Darragh.

WALKED AWAY WITH JEWELRY AND NOW FACES JAIL TERM

Jack Carter, whose home is in Stockton, was arrested one day last week, charged with stealing jewelry and money from the home of Mrs. Tully Pavlos, on Vista Grande avenue, Daly City. Young Carter was arrested in San Francisco by Chief Jack Doyle and Officer H. L. Hilton, at the new Filmore Hotel, after a three day search. The jewelry was recovered. Young Carter was taken before Judge Ellis C. Johnson for peliminary examination and was held to the Superior Court for trial.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Millhauser and their son Fred's many friends gave them a house warming party last Saturday evening, about twenty of their friends being present. A most enjoyable evening was spent, and many lovely gifts were received by the host and hostess.

EL CARMELO PARLOR TWENTY YEARS OLD

The members of El Carmelo Parlor No. 181, Native Daughters of the Golden West, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the institution of the Parlor with a dinner and theatre party on Thursday evening, February 27. Dinner was served at The Studio, and after dinner the entire party attended the performance of "Broken Dishes" at the President Theatre.

The dinner tables were beautifully and artistically decorated for the occasion with spring flowers in the colors of the order, combined with heater, fern and pine cones.

Guests of honor at this affair were Mrs. Pauline Quirolo, who organized Parlor, and Mrs. Marguerite Kaufmann of Yosemite Parlor No. 83, District Deputy of the Parlor.

The committee on arrangements were the Misses Elsie Forsell, Collista Dalton, and Laura Figone, Mesdames Florence Hopman and Frieda Schade.

The Parlor has been one of the most actiev organizations of the community. It was organized at Colma, February 26, 1910, by Mrs. Pauline Quirolo of Amapola Parlor No. 80, and from the first seemed destined to rank among the leading organizations of the locality.

The members always take active part in the projects of the order, contributing liberally to the homeless children work and supporting loyally the work of liquidating the debt on the new Native Daughter Home, which stands a monument to the integrity and financial abilty of the leaders of the order.

Through the efforts of the Parlor the R. S. Thornton school at Colma was named for that fine old pioneer.

In 1917 the Parlor suffered the loss of its entire paraphernalia when Colma Hall was destroyed by fire. Undaunted by the catastrophe, the members courageously carried on, meeting for a while at the home of its members, when, in 1918, the Grand President granted permission to the Parlor to meet in Daly City, where there was a suitable hall.

The Parlor continued to grow and prosper and recognition came when in 1919 one of its members, Mrs. Rena Mathias, was appointed District Deputy Grand President to the Parlor, being reappointed many times and serving so well that she has not only brought honor to herself but praise and glory to the Parlor.

In 1924 the Parlor again had the pleasure of seeing another of its members honored when Mrs. Josephine Johnson was elected to the office of Grand Trustee, an office to which she was twice re-elected, and had she not been forced to retire, because of ill health, would no doubt have arrived at the top and given to El Carmelo a Grand President.

Another contributing factor in the popularity of El Carmelo is the Parlor's peppy drill team, which has won the admiration of all who have seen them "on parade." They have eight loving cups to their credit and bid fair to take many more prizes. Miss Audrey Diamond, of San Francisco, is drill major and ranks among the leaders of the state.

Time and space will not permit me to tell you more of the work done by these loyal Native Daughters of this glorious state of ours, however, it is the hope of all that this year will be a banner one in the history of the Parlor, and that the same spirit of harmony and good will will continue in the future as in the past.

Mrs. Florence Hopman, a popular young matron of Daly City, is presiding over the destiny of El Carmelo at the present, and she and her corps of officers are to be congratulated for having been chosen by their sisters to represent the Parlor during this year.

Some one tells us that—

"Who walks the way of Friendship true
Need fear no lonely hours.
For him the skies are always blue,
The air is sweet with flowers.
And, day by day, as Life unfolds,
New joys it brings to bless.
Who walks the way of Friendship, holds
The key to Happiness."

And so to all of their friends, El Carmelo Parlor thanks you for your co-operation and sincerely hopes that the bonds uniting us to you will continue always.—Mrs. Hattie Kelly, (Charter Member), Recording Secretary.

ON THE SIDE OF PEACE

The spoken word has a directness and a power not possessed by the written word. It carries its own interpretation. It does not have to be decoded and deciphered. Its meaning is simple and clear. If there are mistaken preconceptions, a few words dissipate them. A good lawyer brings honest litigants together and thus settles matters out of the courtroom. The telephone brings people and nations together and thus promotes understanding—and peace.—Boston (Mass.) Herald.

A Boston man promised to retire when he had made a million, and he kept his word. We are sometimes tempted to make a similar vow.

VETERANS SEEK AID UNDER STATE LOAN PLAN

Five thousand California World War veterans will be loaned funds to buy farms and homes in this state under the veterans' farm and home loan plan, sponsored by the American Legion, if the voters approve of the proposed $20,000,000 bond issue which will go before them this fall.

State Adjutant James K. Fisk of the Legion has received information from George M. Stout, secretary of the State Veterans' Welfare Board, that hundreds of World War veterans will be unable to borrow funds from the board unless the voters approve of the bond issue which will permit of the continuation of the work of the veterans' board without ultimate cost to the taxpayers of a single cent.

To date 34,500 veterans have filed applications for farm and home aid and approximately 24,000 applications have been classified and those eligible for loans have secured them.

Approximately 7,000 homes have been purchased by the veterans at an average cost of $4,738, while close to 300 farms, with an average cost of $5,484 haave been purchased by the ex-service men through the use of credit extended by the state, according to State Adjutant Fisk.

The veterans have already borrowed $30,000,000 under prior bond issues and this sum has been expended under the loan plan in fifty-eight counties of California, Amador, Inyo, Mariposa and Sierra counties are the only ones in which no loans have been made according to the report made by Secretary Stout to Fisk.

A GREAT TELEPHONE YEAR

Eighty-seven thousand new telephones were installed in the United States, 52,000 more than in 1928. At the end of the year a total of 20,212,000 instruments were in use, of which only 123,000 cannot be interconnected with the entire system.

The Bell system alone spent about $600,000,000 for construction and improvements during 1929, and the total for this year is expected to reach $700,000,000.

The telephone industry has made an admirable record in providing the American people with a steadily broadening and improving service, at the lowest cost for an equivalent service in the world.

Dr. Ho, psychologist, says that a floorwalker should be "lively, aggressive, responsive, alert and pleasant." The same qualities would make for success in almost any calling.

REAL ESTATE DEPARTMENT AFTER UNLICENSED BROKER

The State Real Estate Department, State of California, requests all people who buy property to demand of the broker or agent who submits property for sale to show their brokers' or salesman's identification card.

All licensed real estate brokers and salesmen are under a $2,000 bond, which is for the protection of the public. The Real Estate Department announces that there are some people in this vicinity who are acting as real estate brokers and salesmen without a license, and any person dealing with them is not protected.

It is a misdemeanor for any person, firm or corporation, to pay or deliver to anyone a compensation for performing any act of a real estate broker or salesman, who shall not be known be be, or present evidence to such payor that he is a regularly licensed real estate broker at the time such compensation is earned. Punishment for said misdemeanor shall be a fine of not exceeding fifty dollars for any one offence.

It is a misdemeanor for any person, broker or salesman, to engage in the real estate business without first obtaining a license from the State Real Estate Commission. The real estate department will request the district attorney to prosecute all violations to he fullest extent.

THE MATCH

Matches are responsible for more deaths and the destruction of more property than all the criminals of all other types put together, and just as the community is constantly on guard against the operations of criminal classes, so should the same degree of caution be exercised in guarding against the destructive possibilities lodged in the head of each separate match. Statistics show that nearly as many fires are caused by the careless use of matches on the part of adults as are started by being played with in the hands of children. The noticeable difference remains, however, that carelessness in this respect on the part of adults is both stupid and inexcusable.

It is estimated that approximately ten hundred million matches are struck every day in the day in the United States, each match being loaded and charged with the possibilities of destroying human life, or starting an incipient blaze that may spread into a general coflagration.

A baptism of caution in safeguarding life and property against the careless use of the criminal match is needed universally in this country, in order to eliminate one of its most dangerous and prolific causes of national waste.—V. Savelly, Fire Prevention Committee of San Mateo County Firemen's Assocation.

THE LURE OF CALIFORNIA

California has always been a fertile field for the writer of publicity. There is so great a variety of interest, scenic and historical, that here, in this Golden State of ours, we can duplicate the rest of the world and often excel, remarks the Touring Department of the National Automobile Club.

You'll find in the early records of California, records that date back to the days of Elizabeth and Ferdinand and Isabella, reams of material before which the inspired articles that wander forth from the glowing pens of the secretaries of our Chambers of Commerce pale into insignificance.

California inspires enthusiasm in the hearts of everyone over whom it has had an opportunity to weave its mysterious spell.

This is the year of California's Diamond Jubilee. It is, indeed, fitting that at this time attention should be directed to the state's remarkable history, to its storied landmarks, as well as to the appeal of its diversified scenery.

Here are rocky cliffs against which the foaming breakers play an awe-inspiring symphony, and have sheltered strands, warm and inviting that have the potential possibilities of Newport and Brighton and Atlantic City. Here are wild mountain country and fern-laden dells; broad, fertile meadow-lands and thriving orchards; everything that nature may offer for the comfort and diversion of mankind.

The European traveler usually follows a beaten path. It is a path that has been advertised throughout the world by the most effective kind of publicity. Few tourists that visit England fail to journey to Stratford-on-Avon where Shakespeare was born. Shakespeare was and still is the greatest publicity man the world has known. His England is the England that the tourist knows and desires to see. It was Byron that established the Castle of Chillon as a tourist haunt and it was Wordsworth that told the world of the delight to be experienced about the shores of Windermere. If you visit Paris, you recall the stirring episodes in the novels of Victor Hugo and the romances of Alexander Dumas, and in Germany it is Goethe and Schiller and Heine who take you by the hand and speak to you through the pages of your guide-book.

There is no way in which California can better be sold to the prospective settler or tourist than through its literature. Yet this aspect of publicity has never been fully appreciated. The debt that the state owes to such men as Bret Harte, Mark Twain, Robert Louis Stevenson, Bayard Taylor, yes, and to those early romancers who accompanied the navigators and discoverers, to Francis Fletcher of Sir Francis Drake's party and to Vancouver can never be estimated.

Most of the war-time second lieutenants have probably lived it down by now.

If practice makes perfect, most married men should be able to produce convincing fiction.

Gas

—a safe fuel for heating your home

Facts published by "The National Board of Fire Underwriters" prove that gas fuel is the safest of all fuels.

Furthermore, physicians know that gas fuel is absolutely safe when burned in MODERN, UP-TO-DATE appliances. Perhaps you recall the old portable heating appliances which were connected with a flimsy rubber hose to a gas pipe. These appliances were not vented and the results were often unpleasant. People blamed the gas fuel. As a matter of fact, the blame should really have been placed upon the poorly-designed appliances. To judge modern gas-fired equipment upon the basis of such obsolete equipment is like comparing coal oil lamps with modern electric lights.

In modern heating appliances, gas fuel burns in a steel firebox. The invisible products of combustion go outdoors through a chimney—just as smoke does from any fire. In no way can the gas escape into your home. That is why gas fuel produces healthful heat.

In addition, gas burns clean without any smoke or dirt. It is the easiest fuel to control and you can have an even, warm temperature in your home without any effort on your part.

For full details about heating equipment that burns gas fuel, see a heating contractor or phone or call at our office.

"If someone would only invent the Telephone!"

Travel was a serious matter in bygone days. How those who went away, and those who were left at home, longed for an invention that would transmit the human voice!

Now, travelers have high-speed, low-priced voice transmission.

100 million inter-city calls are made in a year over Pacific Coast telephone lines.

Denver Mother Tells Story

Nature controls all the functions of our digestive organs except one. We have control over that, and it's the function that causes the most trouble.

See that your children form regular bowel habits, and at the first sign of bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness or constipation, give them a little California Fig Syrup. It regulates the bowels and stomach and gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act as Nature intends them to. It helps build up and strengthen pale, listless, underweight children. Children love its rich, fruity taste and it's purely vegetable, so you can give it as often as your child's appetite lags or he seems feverish, cross or fretful.

Leading physicians have endorsed it for 50 years, and its overwhelming sales record of over four million bottles a year shows how mothers depend on it. A Western mother, Mrs. R. W. Stewart, 4112 Raritan St., Denver, Colorado, says: "Raymond was terribly pulled down by constipation. He got weak, fretful and cross, had no appetite or energy and food seemed to sour in his stomach. California Fig Syrup had him romping and playing again in just a few days, and soon he was back to normal weight, looking better than he had looked in months."

Protect your child from imitations of California Fig Syrup. The mark of the genuine is the word "California" on the carton.

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

"First Aid—Home Remedy Week" Coming

The Good Samaritan is pictured as "The First First Aid" in the national reminder which has been sent to druggists all over America, announcing the 9th anniversary of "First Aid—Home Remedy Week," fixed for March 16-23.

The idea of an advertising-merchandising one-a-year drive timed with spring house cleaning was given to the drug world by Sterling Products, Incorporated, in 1922. Preparedness for meeting accident or sudden illness is emphasized as a sensible and seasonable sales plan which serves to alleviate needless suffering and undoubtedly save life.

The National Association of Retail Druggists sponsored this ad-sales plan and later added Pharmacy Week as an autumn festival for intensive advertising and salesmanship in the drug world.

The National Wholesale Druggists Association and the National Association of Drug Clerks have joined the N. A. R. D. in establishing these festivals of selling as Spring and Autumn fixtures for the welfare of humanity.

"Fill That Medicine Chest Now" is the slogan of "First Aid—Home Remedy Week," and has been from the beginning. It was Dr. William E. Weiss, himself a graduate from the ranks of retail druggists, who first saw the value of "First Aid—Home Remedy Week," and wherever live-wire druggists have co-operated by showing a window filled with suggestive first aids for both accident or illness, and using their home newspaper advertising space, they have added cheerfully to their March business.

YOU HAVE A DOCTOR'S WORD FOR THIS LAXATIVE

In 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he saw the harm in harsh purgatives for constipation and began to search for something harmless to the sensitive bowels.

Out of his experience was born a famous prescription. He wrote it thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, feverishness, nausea, gas, poor appetite, and such disorders, are relieved by the prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original effective and harmless formula. All drugstores have it.

Passport for a Puppy

When I was leaving Batum, Russia, several months ago, the Soviets forced a Spanish traveler, who had a week-old puppy, to get a Russian passport for it with a picture of the puppy and his paw prints thereon. If that isn't guarding your frontiers with a vengeance I don't know what is.—From a Traveler's Letter to the Milwaukee Journal.

Stretching Them

Seven-year-old Freddie had just tried on a new pair of trousers. As all boys are, he was anxious to keep them on for the rest of the afternoon and evening. He thought for a while and finally said to his mother:

"Mamma, can't I keep 'em on tonight and stretch 'em so they will feel good tomorrow?"

Children think papa was always serious and dignified as they now see him.

The Crippled Lady of Peribonka

By James Oliver Curwood

WNU Service
(©, 1929, Doubleday Doran & Co., Inc.)

STORY FROM THE START

Introducing some of the people of the pretty little French-Canadian village of Peribonka, particularly the Crippled Lady, idol of the simple inhabitants. Paul Kirke is a descendant of a sister of Molly Brant, sister of Joseph Brant, great Indian chief. He has inherited many Indian characteristics. His father is a powerful New York financier. Paul marries Claire Durand, daughter of his father's partner. He is in charge of engineering work near Peribonka. Paul's wife is in Europe. She dislikes the woods. Paul becomes interested in Carla, village teacher. Paul writes his wife to join him.

He sealed and addressed the letter and put it in the company's mail. What a glory life would be if his wife would come at last! He had painted a picture for her in the letter—her golden beauty a part of the blue of open skies, a thing near and wonderful for him to have. But when he went out into the night and looked at the row of lighted cottages on the hill he thought of Carla, and a yearning to be near her possessed him again.

This impulse bewildered him. He went to his bachelor quarters and tried to read. One by one the houses grew dark. Still he endeavored to make his books and magazines interest him. Never had his nerves been more sleeplessly alert, and their obstinacy persisted after he had undressed and gone to bed. Something kept him awake—an incessant stream of things passing through his mind, detached, illogical, unreasonable, and always bringing him back in one way or another to Carla and her mother.

He got up and dressed. It was after midnight. Over the pit hung an illumination which reached up into the sky like the glow from a volcano. He turned down the cinder path and was soon among the men. No one was on the job who did not know him, even in the night shifts. Many of them spoke to him tonight, but their friendliness failed to wipe away the disquiet of mind which had compelled him to get out of bed. He looked at his watch and found it was one o'clock when he reached the far end of the workings. A gravel-made road led to the forest trail higher up, and he took this road out of the pit.

After a little he came to the row of cottages. There was a light in the Haldan home, and he found himself wondering what Carla did with the long nights in which she waited for the coming of death. Was it possible for her to sleep? Or did she sit alone through dragging hours watching her mother, praying for the day? He stopped at the gate to the picket fence which enclosed her flower gardens, and his ears caught a sound which did not come from the pit. It was like a cry. He opened the gate quietly and went in. A window was open somewhere, and he could hear clearly a voice that was sobbing. It was Carla! No one else in the cottage could be crying like that—surely not Carla's mother. His heart thumped against his ribs. His breath came a little short. He went to the door and knocked against it gently. Then more loudly. Some one came, and the door opened. He entered and stood beside Carla. She had not been in bed, had not undressed. She was as he had left her hours before, except that her face and eyes were stricken with a grief that terrified him. Then, in the dim light, a miracle happened. She smiled at him through tears. "I was hoping for you," she said.

"I was passing—heard you crying—"

He said no more, because he had guessed only half the truth. He was careful to speak so that his voice would not awaken Carla's mother, if she were asleep. His mind was not working quickly, he was bewildered and frightened by the agony in Carla's face, the way she turned and went ahead of him into the big room with Mrs. Haldan's empty chair near the window, and from that to another room that was full of light, and from which the sobbing must have come at the gate. In the open door of this room Carla waited, and without turning her head gave him her hand. It was a cold, lifeless little hand, with no spark left of the warmth and thrill which he had felt in it a few hours before. He closed his own over it tightly, for the hand, more than Carla's face and eyes, struck the truth to his heart. They went in. Mrs. Haldan lay in her bed. Her face was lighted with peace, her lips were gently smiling. She was very white and very still. Paul knew she was dead.

Carla drew him nearer. When they were beside her mother she looked up at him. Her eyes, flooded with their pain, were starry bright, almost with pride, almost with glory.

Paul bowed his head. "Yes, she is beautiful," he said, fighting to keep his voice even.

The hand which was not holding Carla's he placed on her mother's white forehead. For a few moments they stood in this way. Then the same impulse which had drawn his boyish lips to his mother's cold face when her soul was gone made him bend over and kiss the smooth, white brow where his hand had lain. A little cry tore itself from Carla's breast, and freeing her hand from Paul's she sank down upon her knees and pressed her face closely against her mother. For an eternity, it seemed to him, he stood over her—an eternity in which he could find no words for his lips to say, nothing which might help a little to ease the grief which had come so suddenly and crushingly upon her.

Slowly he put out a hand until it rested on Carla's head. Then he gently stroked her hair, and after a little the tenseness went out of Carla's body, and she seemed to be sleeping beside her mother—sleeping with wide-open, misty eyes, which Paul could not see, while through the partly open window came to them the drone and grind and distant tumult of the pit.

On Tuesday they went to Peribonka.

For thirty minutes there was silence in the pit, the first time in three years. The pit demanded it. It cared nothing for James Kirke, on whose millions it fed, but for Carla Haldan it held a warm affection. Out of the pit came tributes of flowers which smothered the little cottage on the hill, and when Carla and her mother went to Peribonka the soul of the pit went with them. For the first time Paul looked down upon it and almost loved it.

The next day Carla was among her children in the school. This was the most amazing part of her fortitude. Two days later Paul was called unexpectedly to New York.

The new life which submerged him for a fortnight, its passionate business details, its conferences, the talk of still more millions, and of greater activities, was like a plunge into a maelstrom. His father and Durand had perfected a fresh scheme for bringing in another hundred million dollars of other people's money. Each day they were struggling to reach a little farther. Their huge new office building, with its appalling efficiency and ceaseless rush of living creatures, oppressed and dismayed him, and he was startled by its unexpected effect upon him. It was worse than the pit, for the pit had its redeeming edge of wilderness and its human forces at work with their naked hands in rock and clay. Here his mind seemed dulled, his wits blunted, his senses overwhelmed by the magnitude of the things which he knew were happening without the physical use of hands and bodies, without the flesh and blood vigor—the strain of brawn and muscle—which had made the pit endurable for him. He made no great effort to enter into it or to understand it. The house where his mother had lived seemed no longer even the husk of a home. It was filled with a cathedral stillness, wrapped up, packed away, moth-protected, like a palace whose occupants had suddenly died, a place guarded by soft-footed and obsequious servants who made him shiver. It was a sepulcher of hopes for him, a place of gayety and laughter and entertainment for Claire. Here he felt about him a clinging emptiness, a great loneliness, a haunting unrest—and in this same environment Claire would find amusement and happiness when she returned. The truth of the thing added to his heaviness of heart. A new note had come into his thoughts. He was beginning to ask himself if Claire, with all her wealth and freedom, were really happy. And if, in any way, it were possible for him to make her happy.

Needless Pain!
Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain.
Lots of suffering is, indeed, quite needless.
Headaches, for example. They come without warning, but one can always be prepared. Bayer Aspirin tablets bring immediate relief. Keep a bottle at the office. Carry the small tin in your pocket. Then you won't have to hunt a drugstore, or wait till you get home.
And don't think Bayer Aspirin is only good for headaches, sore throats, and colds! Read the proven directions for relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic, and other aches and pains. Remembering, of course, that the quick comfort from these tablets is not a cure; for any continued pain, see a doctor.
Bayer Aspirin is genuine. Protect yourself by looking for that name. Always the same. Always safe. Never hurts the heart.

We can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

All through babyhood, Castoria should be a mother's standby; and a wise mother does not change to stronger medicines as the child grows older. Castoria is readily obtained at any drugstore, and the genuine easily identified by the Chas. H. Fletcher signature that appears on every wrapper.

Quebec Acts to End Disease

The province of Quebec is now placing in foster homes in the country children from three to ten or twelve years of age, themselves free from tuberculosis but exposed in their own homes to one or more active cases of the disease. This plan is said to have been used in France with excellent results during the last thirty years, and to a certain extent in England and Scotland.—United States Children's Bureau.

PASSING OF WILLIAM H. TAFT

Chief Justice William Howard Taft passed away last Saturday, March 8, at the age of 72. In the death of the former President and Chief Justice the nation lost one of its really big men, a loveable character, whose passing will be sincerely mourned.

Ex-President Taft was the only man in the history of our nation to hold both the office of President and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Following his defeat in the campaign for re-election, when Theodore Roosevelt was also a candidate, and Woodrow Wilson was elected, a celebrated writer declared: "Mr. Taft was the worst licked and the most loved man in the United States."

That he was loved and admired by all with whom he came in contact can not be denied. That his private and public life won for him the admiration and affection of his countrymen is an indication that this great and genial man's life was one well worth the living.

The writer was present at a dinner given in the Hotel Utah, Salt Lake City, a short time after President Taft had been defeated by Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt, when the former President came in third in the race. Taft's opening words, when he was introduced by the toastmaster, were that he was glad to be with his friends, saying: "Anyway, Utah and Maine stood by me," this declaration being followed by his famous chuckle. No bitterness exhibited, and, in the light of passing events, we believe none was felt. He was a big man—big in every way.

This simple, genial man, whose ruling passion was peace, and who once confessed he was glad to relinquish the Presidency because he hated the turmoil of it, was given a soldier's burial, after his body had been taken to the capitol to lie in state for a few hours.

SURGEON'S BIDS WANTED

While there can be no reasonable objection to the custom of calling for bids on any contract involving a large amount, the habit many business and professional men have of chasing bids on small quantities of printed matter is sometimes exasperating to printers.

In many cases bids are asked on jobs amounting to only a few dollars, where securing the proposals must inevitably cost more in time and trouble than any possible saving would repay.

According to a story now being widely published, one printer got weary of bidding on trivial jobs, and when a surgeon asked for bids on a small quantity of letterheads, and also requested that the type form be left standing, so that he might have the benefit of cheaper rates for future orders, the printer wrote the surgeon this letter:

"Am in the market for bids on one operation for appendicitis. One, two or five inch incision—with or without ether—also with or without nurse. If appendix is found to be sound, want quotations to include putting back same and canceling order. If removed, successful bidder is expected to hold incision open for about sixty days as I expect to be in the market for an operation for gallstones at that time and want to save the extra cost of cutting."

THE OLDEST REPORTER

Probably the oldest active reporter in the country is Theodore F. Shuey, 85 years old, who has held one job nearly 62 years. He is also one of the most accurate chroniclers of events, and one who never colors his news, except possibly to correct grammatical errors in the speeches which he records.

For he is an official reporter of Senate debates for that well-known and sometimes derided publication, the Congressional Record.

Shuey became a senate reporter in 1868, when Andrew Johnson was president, the year of Grant's first election. He has recorded the utterances of all Senators who have served since that time. Naturally he has a head full of interesting memories.

He thinks that George Graham Vest of Missouri was the best orator the Senate has had in all these years. Ingalls of Kansas was one of the wittiest, it being he who once referred to a Delaware solon as a "Senator from a state which has three counties at low tide and two at high tide."

Shuey thought Sumner of Massachusetts the most conceited of Senators, of whom it was said that he didn't believe the Bible because someone else had written it.

Among present Senators Shuey says that Johnson, King, Heflin and Moses are easiest to follow and record in shorthand. Which is perhaps fortunate for the reporters, for the gentlemen named generally have a good deal to say.

THE SAFETY MOVEMENT

One of the finest things about the development of our industrial and mechanical civilization is the progress made in the safety movement.

Millions of Americans work in factories filled with complicated and potentially dangerous machinery. Yet the death and accident rate is decreasing.

One reason for this is the progress made in the guarding of machinery. But of far greater importance have been the successful efforts of industrial and insurance executives to educate employes in safety principles and ideals.

It is a proven fact that safety is not something to be applied extraneously. It comes from within. It is the result of ceaseless care. It is the result of an educated mental attitude on the part of the worker. We can look forward to a time when industrial accidents will be rare.

In direct contrast to this splendid situation is the automobile accident problem. The death and injury toll from this cause continues to mount. Carelessness and recklessness are almost rules of the road with thousands of Americans.

Automobile accidents will be curbed when motorists follow the example of industrial workers, and heed simple, commonsense principles of safety.

HUGE LOSS FROM FIRE

Should the fire losses for January be repeated each month through the year, the total loss in 1930 would be over half a billion dollars! Put to constructive use this enormous sum would build a road 400 miles long at a cost of $25,000 a mile, with sufficient left to develop 100-foot lots on both sides and provide for each lot a house costing $7,000, furniture costing $3,000, a $1,000 garage and a $1,000 car.

Fortunately January is often the worst month of the year for fire losses. Also the $42,344,035 reported by the National Board of Fire Underwriters for January, 1930, is five per cent less than for the same month in 1929. As a matter of fact, losses have decreased slightly each year from $561,980,751 in 1926 to $422,215,128 in 1929, but even the latter figure is many times too large. It represents property values that have gone up in smoke and the destruction of raw materials that can never be replaced.

Such a huge fire loss should be sufficient warning to Americans to handle fire with care and to build their homes and business structures so that they will not be an easy prey to fire.

CHICKEN INSPECTION

In a certain district of Colombia, South America, every chicken killed must be presented to the government authorities for inspection.

This is not a health measure, such as governs the sanitary slaughter of food animals in this country, but is a requirement to prevent the chicken owner from coming into unauthorized possession of any stray emeralds which may happen to be found in the bird's gizzard.

For in this section is located the only emerald producing territory in the southern continent, and fowls often pick up the precious stones in preference to ordinary gravel.

An American company is conducting emerald mining operations in Colombia, using the primitive methods employed by the early Spanards, because the region is so inaccessible as to make the transportation of modern equipment too costly.

However recovery of emeralds by the chicken method is only a minor phase of the enterprise.

Efficiency experts might have a try at devising some means of using left-over advice.

MARTYRS TO SCIENCE

Two bacteriologists have already given their lives in the effort to stamp out parrot fever, the newly discovered disease transmitted by infected parrots. These men are Dr. William Royal Stokes, of Baltimore, and Harry B. Anderson, a government laboratory assistant. Two others, Dr. Daniel S. Hatfield and Dr. Charles Armstrong, are suffering from the disase, but their recovery is expected.

In the age-long battle against disease many physicians and other scientists have fallen victims to the maladies which they have sought to conquer, such as bubonic plague, yellow fever, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, Malta fever and Mexican fever.

Illness, difigurement and death have also attended experiments made in the adaptation of radium, X-rays and other powerful agencies to the use of mankind.

The world owes a large debt of gratitude to the army of brave scientists who daily risk their health and their lives in the service of humanity.

COAL CAR TO VANISH

Wires and pipe lines will ultimately make the coal car obsolete, according to a prediction by President Baker of the Carnegie Institute of Technology. Wires will carry electric current and pipe lines will carry oil to centers of industry for power and heating purposes, he declares.

This transition has already made great strides, not only in industrial plants, but in homes as well, where the coal stove and furnace are being rapidly superseded by more modern heating equipment. Oilomatic burners, disto stoves and other products of present-day engineering skill are making the coal scuttle obsolete.

Dr. Baker's prediction is supported by other authorities, who point out that the newer devices are conducive to health, through automatic maintenance of desired temperatures in the home, besides eliminating the coal dust, soot and other nuisances which accompany the use of coal in its crude state.

Thus applied science is bringing economy and efficiency to industry, and cleanliness, comfort and health to the home.

BRIDGE FIEND TEST

Considering the great spread of the bridge-playing industry, it is strange that none of our legislators has had any laws passed for its regulation. Now comes a suggestion that players be compelled to pass an examination before being licensed to indulge in the game.

The suggestion comes, not from a United States Senator, but from an editor, whose zeal for the public welfare has been roused by a report from Kansas City, where a wife shot her husband. The victim was also the lady's bridge partner it appears, and when he bid one spade and another player plunged on a different suit the wife raised to four spades. The husband was set, blamed the wife for reckless bidding, and as a result of the argument she shot him.

Now, the aforesaid editor asserts, all persons who aspire to play bridge should be caused to pass a rigid test, not with reference to their skill, but to determine their mental poise. If the applicant is unable to be set or have an ace trumped without showing undue emotion, a license should be denied.

The trouble is that such a law, if enforced, would practically eliminate all who take the game seriously.

FARM HOMES SERVED

Progress in farm home betterment, which is being made in many states with increasing rapidity, is recorded by Miss Helen Johnson, director of home demonstration work in Alabama, as reported by the Associated Press.

Referring to what is being done throughout Alabama alone in the matter of rural electrification, Miss Johnson states that since the movement was begun in 1924 electric service has been extended to 7,557 farm customers, and adds:

"As in the urban home, electricity is lifting the burden from farm people by supplying the service needed and wanted to make their homes measure up to their ideals."

Through the co-operation of agricultural colleges, farm organizations, women's clubs and government departments with the electric companies, farm electrification programs have been entered upon in nearly every state with benefit to the communities served. The movement is as worthy as that for good roads or any other facility for the betterment of rural living conditions.

Miss Katherine Fischer, of South San Francisco, visited relatives here on Tuesday of this week.

Charles Zipser, of Berkeley, spent the past week end at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Zipser.

Little Miss Anita Knale, who was quite ill with scarlet fever, is now well on the road to recovery.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new super-service station which Mr. Bennie Piccetti is erecting on Mission and Vale streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Fischer and daughter Sylvia and B. W. Haubrich, Sr., spent Sunday at their summer home, "Sobre Las Olas," at Capitola.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Jones and Mr. Frank Jones, of First avenue, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jones in San Francisco last Sunday evening.

The members of El Carmelo Parlor No. 181, Native Daughters of the Golden West, cordially invite you to attend a whist party and dance to be given in Masonic Hall, Daly City, on Wednesday evening, March 19. Mrs. Margaret Steele will be in charge of the affair.

On Friday of last week the teachers and pupils of the R. S. Thornton school of Colma joined with all of California in the observance of Arbor day, Bird day, and the birthday anniversary of Luther Burbank. Tree and shrub planting was carried on during the morning hours under the direction of the teachers. The trees and plants were gifts of the children to their school and the work of digging, setting and filling was done by the boys of the fifth grade.

The pupils of the eighth grade in the Woodrow Wilson school had a most enjoyable hike to Mt. Tamalpais on Thursday of this week. They were accompanied by District Superintendent W. J. Savage.

The members of the Girls' Club of Colma will hold their annual party in the Colma Community Center building, on Dunk street, this Saturday evening. Plans have been made for an enjoyable evening, and the various committees are busy arranging for the event.

Mrs. Pauline Shinazy entertained the members of the Girls' Club of Colma at her home last Wednesday evening. A delicioous dinner was served and the table was appropriatly decorated. Those who had a most enjoyable evening were Lucille Lemon, Josephine Greene, Elsie Wilke, Josephine Lamberson, Bertha Thiel, Margaret Pauline Brown, Alice Thiel, and Ada Sheldon.

El Carmelo Parlor No. 181, N. D. G. W., invites their many friends to attend a St. Patrick's whist and dance on Wednesday evening, March 19, at 8:45 sharp, in Masonic Hall, Daly City. The party is under the direction of our Charter President, Margaret Callan Steele, who wishes to thank all our sister members and many friends, who are working hard to make this party a success.

Mrs. Lillie Lowans, who was for many years a resident of Colma, passed away in Belmont on March 9. She was the dearly beloved wife of the late George Lowans, the loving mother of Irene Bryant, and sister of George Ravin, Annie Callan and Ida Schenone, of Colma. Interment will be today at 3 P. M. in Olivet Memorial Park, from the parlors of Suhr & Wiebolt.

On Wednesday evening of this week the annual birthday party of La Fiesta Social Club was celebrated at Topsy's Roost at the Beach. The center of the table was adorned with a huge birthday cake, and favors at each place added to the merriment of the evening. The members having a delightful evening were: Audrey Diamond, Roberta Heagney, Florence Hopmann, Christine Hume, Lorraine Wall, Sylvia Fischer, Nora Healey, Laura Figone, Louise Clemens, Tessie O'Connor, Collista Dalton, Marge O'Connor, Edna Boyle, Elsie Fahey, Julia Romer and several guests.

A COUNTING ROOSTER

Experiments in psychology are being carried on enthusiastically with many kinds of animal life as subjects. A recent test reported from the University of Chicago is quite interesting.

Kernels of corn were placed in a row on the floor, with every third kernel tacked down, and a rooster was permitted to help himself. Failing to lift a fastened kernel, he would pass on and eat the next. The missing kernels were replaced and next time he made no attempt to devour the stationary kernels. Then the third kernels were loosened, but he still passed them up until his foot struck one and moved it; then he went back and ate them all.

Some who witnessed the experiment believed that it proved the rooster's ability to count; others were skeptical. Possibly he was an unusual bird, or had been influenced by his university environment.

We don't vouch for the truth of the story, but if you doubt it, try the experiment on your own rooster.

CANADIAN TOURISTS

Comment and statistics quoted in the Literary Digest reveal a surprising increase in Canada's tourist "crop," which has become a substantial source of revenue, reaching last year a total of about 300 million dollars, as compared wilth only about 91 million dollars in 1922.

More than 95 per cent of these expenditures are made by tourists from the United States, while Canadians spend approximately one-third as much on the American side of the line.

Another striking fact is seen in the statement that the number of Americans who visited Canada last year was close to 15 million, or about one and one-half as many people as the entire population of the Dominion.

Well-disposed persons on both sides of the line will be glad to note this evidence of increasing neighborliness. Just how much of it may be attributed to Mr. Volstead is not shown by the statistical reports.

AN OBLIGING BEAUTY DOCTOR

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it glossy. Take a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at a very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."

JUMPING FROG JUBILEE FOR ANGELS CAMP

One of California's most unique celebrations, the Jumping Frog Jubilee, immortalizing the story "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras," story by Mark Twain, will again be held in Angels Camp, Calaveras county, this year, according to the Touring Department of the National Automobile Club. The dates are May 18th and 19th and great plans are being made by Angels Boosters Club to make this year's Jubilee a bigger and better event than ever before.

Trees That Glow at Night

In order to prevent numerous accidents that have befallen motorists along some of the tree-lined roads of the Rhine region, German officials are painting the trees bordering the highway with a band of phosphorescent paint, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The trees glow at night, and the driver is able to see them far enough away to avoid swerving into them.

Lucky Grab

John L. Davis, for 20 years mayor of the beautiful California town of Oakland, said on his return from Europe:

"Shopkeepers in Europe are honest, there's no doubt about that; but all the same the average European shopkeeper is typified in this story.

"A little girl walked along a street of shops in a faltering, uncertain way. She had a banknote in her hand. One shopkeeper happened to be standing at his door, and she held the banknote out to him and said:

"'Does my mother owe you this?'

"He grabbed the banknote.

"'She does,' he said, beaming, 'and—and whose little girl are you?'"

Speaking of Operations

A doctor can poke and tinker and thump and nod his head and shake his head and assume a learned expression that might mean either the best or the worst for his victim, but no doctor on earth, not even a high-priced one or one with a goatee, can be as mystifying as a radio repairman.—Life.

CALIFORNIA NEWS REVIEW

A new survey of proposed sites for the $575,000 federal building to be erected at San Pedro will be made soon.

A reduction of 18 per cent in the electric agency rate for street lighting was announced by the Southern California Edison Company, saving the City of Visalia $1000 a year.

Southern California Gas Company applied to the Railroad Commission for authority to exercise franchise rights for the distribution of gas in the city of Ceres, Stanislaus County.

Ted Peoples, Santa Rosa aviator, has been named Sonoma County's first "flying cop" for the enforcement of California's air navigation laws. Unlicensed planes have been ordered "grounded."

Creation of a county planning commission, the object of which is to make plans for growth outside of incorporated city limits, has been approved by the Board of Supervisors. Members of the commission will include Vaughn D. Whitmore, chairman of the board, the county surveyor and district attorney and six other members to be named by the board.

The Bells of Solano County Exposition will be held at Fairfield this year. The expedition will open May 24 and will close June 1. John R. Thornton, sheriff of Solano County, will be general chairman of the exposition. D. A. Weir will be secretary and manager. The exposition will include a farm and home appliance show, a products show, a style show, a food show, a junior live stock show, a motor car and truck show and art and educational exhibits. A unique feature of the exposition will be the elimination of the "complete carnival," often deemed necessary to save the ordinary fair from financial loss. A pageant play, depicting the progress of Solano County and the state of California, from the pioneer days to the present time, will be presented every afternoon and night in a special tent.

California building and loan associations must not, under the law, invest more than 25 per cent of their assets in straight loans, decreed Attorney General U. S. Webb in an opinion to Charles A. Whitmore, state building and loan commissioner. Webb, in his opinion, pointed out that the scope of these associations was to make loans on the mutual or deferred payment plan to home owners. "Building and loan associations are organized to encourage industry, frugality, home building and savings among members and shareholders," Webb commented. "They have limited powers and occupy a different relationship from banking institutions."

Southern Marin County civic leaders hailed with joy the news that Tiburon would have direct ferry service with San Francisco within the next few months. The Southern Pacific-Golden Gate Ferries Ltd., will start the service as soon as a new highway link is completed. At the present time, commuters are forced to transfer at Sausalito when en route to San Francisco. The highway will be constructed by the state department of public works immediately, Assemblyman Charles Reindollar of San Rafael stated.

Three hundred bluejays were killed recently when the Mokelumne Fish and Game Protective Association, an organization of Lodi sportsmen, staged a drive on predatory birds on the game preserves on the Mokelumne River between Lockeford and Clements. The preserve was stocked with pheasants by the Lodi club.

It requires 15,000 specialists to keep California beautiful. This was an estimate of the number of beauty specialists, hairdressers and others. A big share of this number minister to vain men, says J. F. Collins, director of vocational standards. In addition to beauty specialists, there are 17,612 barbers doing their bit.

With the nation's 1930 tourist travel already heading westward to the scenic frontiers of California, state and private agencies spurred their campaign against unsightly billboards along highways. After a conference with highway officials, Mrs. Charles N. Felton, chairman of the newly organized California Committee for Restriction of Outdoor Advertising, announced a statewide campaign to recruit adherents to the anti-billboard movement. "It is not fair to allow a comparatively few business concerns to litter hilltops and creekbeds, forests and pastures, mountain passes and desert wastes, with their huge, glaring placards, which have multiplied to such an extent that they have become the foundation for national ridicule. California is growing to such an extent that unless war is declared against roadway advertisers in real earnest it will not be long before unmarred scenic beauties will likewise fall prey to the signboard artist and outdoor paperhanger," declared Mrs. Felton.

Napa county will receive $103,000 from the State for its schools for the fiscal year ending June 30, according to figures given out at Napa.

Crude oil from the Kettleman Hills field will be assessed at 72 cents per barrel, members of the San Joaquin Valley Assessors' Association decided at a meeting at Fresno. Oil of 20.9 or less gravity will be assessed at 25 cents, below 26.9 at 40 cents and over 26.9 at 50 cents per barrel. Oil in storage will be assessed at the same rate as last year. No changes were made in the pipe line or pumping station assessments.

ROYAL HEN

"Ah," began Red Top, "my poor dear grandfather was terribly frightened by these automobiles.

Frightened by These Automobiles.

"I can understand his fear," said Mrs. Red Top, kindly.

"You dear, good, sympathetic hen," said Red Top, smiling at her in his rooster way.

"I interrupted," said Mrs. Red Top. "Pray continue with your story.

"I want so much to hear it, and to be a comfort to you if I can."

"Ah, my dear Mrs. Red Top," said Red Top, affectionately, "I will continue at once.

"I don't believe my grandfather lived in the days of automobiles—that is, I don't think he did.

"I never met him, and so I never heard him say, but I know one thing—hens and roosters lived long before automobiles.

"That's so," Mrs. Red Top agreed.

"It seems a pity," continued Red Top, "that automobiles should take up so much room.

"Yes, they take up the greater part of the road, it seems to me.

"And what annoyed my dear grandfather so was that their honk-honk was receiving a great deal more attention than our crowing.

"In fact, people didn't have to pay much attention to our crowing except in the early morning, but they always had to pay attention to the honk-honking of an automobile, and if they didn't, a sad fate befell them.

"And so it is really not mysterious that it bothered my grandfather, and I am not sure whether it bothered my great-grantfather or not, but I hardly think so, for automobiles are impertinent things, and roosters are old—old and wise."

"Yes," sighed Red Top, "the art of crowing is very old!"

"We can surely be comforters to each other," said Mrs. Red Top, "for I know all about horrid automobiles—most certainly I do."

And at this she wiped her eyes on a leaf handkerchief which she carried.

"They're so foolish," said Red Top, "for they only stir up dust and cause so much trouble.

"The great difficulty which I have is that I never know which side of the road to go on.

"One moment I think I will go one way, and the next moment I decide to go the other way."

"My Dear Mrs. Red Top."

"Ofttimes," said Mrs. Red Top, "I very narrowly escape danger, but then I'm not going to let those people who run automobiles think they can make me go just as they please.

"If they think a hen can't change her mind they're very much mistaken.

"It is only our right.

"And those stupid people don't seem to understand."

"Ah," said Red Top, "that's the way to talk. You're a royal hen, talking so splendidly.

"I'm proud of you, cock-a-doodle-do."

Seeing Big League BASEBALL

By BILLY EVANS

Sportswriter, Big League Umpire and General Manager of the Cleveland Indians

During the 22 years I spent in the majors, I experienced many a thrill, but if you asked me the greatest one of my career, I would say it happened in the opening game of the 1929 season. It concerned the debut of Earl Averill. He was the young man I was banking on to fill Tris Speaker's shoes and be a most important cog in the effort to make the Indians over from a seventh place club to a first division possibility.

After purchasing Averill from the San Francisco club, the youngster had a disagreement with that team over his share of the purchase price. The two couldn't get together and, since I had $45,000 invested in Averill, I decided it was wise for me to make a hurried trip to the coast and see if I couldn't help iron out the difficulties. I arranged to do so and decided to personally chaperon Averill from Los Angeles to our training camp, so as to be sure he would report on time.

On the long trip from Los Angeles to New Orleans I was thrown into close contact with Averill, and in those three days had a better insight as to his temperament than could have been gleaned in a year through merely occasional contact. It was apparent to me that Averill didn't worry, that he wasn't in the least fussed by his graduation into the big league ranks, that he had confidence in his ability to hit, and that there wasn't a doubt in his mind but that he could play centerfield to the satisfaction of Manager Peckinpaugh, myself and the Cleveland public. In his quiet manner, Averill made me certain that he had a great chance to deliver when he made a chance remark something like this:

"I suppose if I should hit .350 for Cleveland I would get a substantial raise in 1929."

"You certainly would," I replied, "but don't worry on that score, because you are not going to hit .350."

"Maybe not, but I'll wager a couple of suits of clothes with you that I finish .320 or better."

"If you can do that, you will make me look like a smart guy in buying you, also .320 will be enough to get the substantial raise you are talking about. You can buy yourself a couple of suits with my compliments out of that." That one speech of Averill's impressed. It wasn't conceit, nor ego, but simply sublime confidence; he believed in himself. He more than made good on that .320 speech. His batting average in his first year in the majors was .331. He made 18 homers, more than any Cleveland player has ever made.

But to get back to my greatest thrill. Averill came to the American league well press agented. In spring training he had shown flashes of the great ability that made him an outstanding star on the coast. The critics said he would step right into the picture and deliver. That Cleveland fans would pronounce him almost as good as Speaker, that some might like him as well, or even better.

When Averill stepped to the plate for the first time in the majors, it was at Dunn field, in Cleveland, with Detroit as the opposing team and Earl Whitehall, one of the best southpaws in the game, as the rival pitcher. It was no soft spot for a left hander. Averill walked to the plate with the nonchalant stride that is characteristic of him, stepped into the batter's box with his 44 ounce bat, the heaviest in baseball, resting seemingly lightly on his shoulder. Whitehill wound up to deliver the ball and still Averill didn't seem very much interested. As it neared the place, he began his rythmic swing. It was anything but a "Ruthian" effort, but the timing was perfect. The ball sailed far over the right field wall for a home run. It was the biggest thrill of my career, for never did I want anyone to make an auspicious start more than I did Averill. He made good on one pitch with the Cleveland fans.

HOT SANDWICHES

For a quick luncheon or supper there is nothing more satisfying than a tasty hot sandwich.

Chickurry Sandwich.—Mix together one cupful each of chopped chicken and ham, one teaspoonful of curry powder, three-fourths of a cupful of thick white sauce and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Mix the ingredients. Toast six slices of bread on one side, spread the untoasted side with a generous layer of the curry and sprinkle thickly with buttered crumbs. Bake in a hot oven until the crumbs are brown. Serve at once.

Ham and Egg Sandwich.—Take one cupful of chopped ham and two eggs. Put bacon fat into a frying pan, turn in the mixture and cook slowly until the eggs are set. Cut into squares, lay on toasted bread and spread with currant jelly.

Hot Oyster Sandwich.—Cut a pint of oysters into bits. To a tablespoonful of butter add one-half teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of cayenne and the liquor and the oysters. Stir in one-half cupful of cracker crumbs. Fill buttered sandwiches and serve at once. This makes ten sandwiches.

Hot Roast Beef Sandwiches.—Lay slices of hot roast beef dipped into brown gravy between buttered slices of bread from which the crusts have been trimmed. Pour the brown gravy over all and serve very hot with pickles or olives.

Fried Oyster Sandwich.—This is a sandwich de luxe. Dip medium-sized oysters into milk and seasoned crumbs and fry in hot fat. Drain on paper and lay on buttered bread spread lightly with tartar sauce. Cover one slice with oysters and place the other slice on top. Dust with paprika and garnish each sandwich with a stuffed olive. Keep them hot until served.

Bacon and Butter Sandwich.—Cut strips of bread one-half inch wide and cover with butter, softened and mixed with chopped crisp bacon. Toast on both sides in a hot oven.

Toasted Vegetable Sandwich.—Reheat left over vegetable in a cream sauce to which grated cheese has been added. Serve between crisp triangles of toast.

Lunch Sandwich.—Take one-half cupful of chopped boiled ham, one small onion chopped, two eggs slightly beaten, cook in a little fat. Put the mixture between slices and trim. Serve with sliced dill pickles.

DISHES NOT COMMON

Occasionally for luncheon or for a supper dish one likes a change, something which appeals to the taste and intrigues the imagination. The dish may be an ordinary one, but the serving makes it different.

Herring in Paper.—Soak smoked herring over night in cold water after removing the heads and tails. Wipe dry and place in a paper bag, those prepared for cookery or in a greased paper. Place on a hot griddle and cook until the paper is well browned. Serve in the paper with:

Maitre d' Hotel Sauce.—Put a tablespoonful of butter into a small saucepan over a moderate fire and add to it chopped parsley and chives. Season with salt and a little lemon juice and while sizzling hot pour over the fish.

Another sauce to be used for this dish or for any fish is:

Sauce d' Anchois.—Take three or four anchovies, mash them and mix with two tablespoonfuls of butter. Prepare a brown sauce with browned flour, butter and milk. Stir in the anchovy butter and just before taking from the fire add the juice of half a lemon or more.

Dutch Sauce for Fish.—Take two tablespoonfuls of butter, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of liquid in which the fish was cooked, one cupful of milk, salt and paprika to taste. Cook the sauce, adding two egg yolks, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and beat well with an egg beater just before taking from the heat. Add a tablespoonful of minced parsley and serve.

Mint Ice.—Take three cupfuls of cider, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one-third cupful of lemon juice, one cupful of water. Boil the sugar and water together for ten minutes; cool, add cider, lemon juice, a few drops of vegetable coloring and a few drops of oil of peppermint. Freeze and serve in bright red apple shells.

Marzipan.—Take one-half cupful of heavy sugar sirup, warm it and mix with one-fourth pound of almond paste, add one-half pound of confectioner's sugar and work into a paste. Add a few drops of flavoring and mold into any desired form, using color and leaves of angelica; small fruits are easily copied.

THE FIRST DISTRICT SHOWING OF 'RIO RITA'

Ever so often in motion picture history there appears on the theatrical horizon a group of stellar film attractions that rank among the greatest achievements of the season. For next week the Daly City Theatre will present just such a group of talking, singing and dancing film attractions, starting off the week Saturday with the Tiffany Stahl all talking thriller, "The Lost Zeppelin," with an exceptional cast of players, including Conway Tearle and Virginia Valli. The Graf Zeppelin played an important part in the filming of this massive production while in and around the Los Angeles studios of this company. On the same bill there will be an additional feature and a comedy and news subject.

For Sunday, there will be presented a big all whoopee show, headed by Arthur Lake and Olive Borden in "Dance Hall," a story of dancing feet, laughing eyes, luring lips; an episode of pleasure crazed youth in a whirling musical sensation. On the same bill our little friend Mickey Mouse will entertain in "The Jazz Fool." There will be a comedy, a Fable and the News Reel on the same bill.

For Monday the ever popular and entertaining comedian, Eddie and his Advershow, will be the stage attraction, and on the screen will be presented the Paramount melody sensation, "The Hungarian Rhapsody," together with a delightful collection of musical and comedy short subjects.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the Daly City Theatre will present with pleasurable pride the screen's greatest hit attraction presented in the past several seasons, "Rio Rita," with Bebe Daniels, John Boles and a cast of players of the greatest magnitude ever to reach the screen. It is an attraction that you will not care to miss, and it will have its first district showing at the Daly City Theatre, where real sound pictures sound best. There will be other attractions on the same bill, but because of the length of the feature the management advises you to be in your seat not later than 7:10 P. M., and again at 9:15, the running time of "Rio Rita" alone being two hours and ten minutes.

For Friday and Saturday, March 21 and 22, the Daly City will present the premier district showing of First National Vitaphone's tremendous outdoor sensation, "The Great Divide," with a stellar cast of screen personalities, including Dorothy Mackaill, Holmes Herbert, Ian Keith and Myrna Loy. It is a 100 per cent all talking, singing and dancing special, with the great outdoors as the background. This attratcion has been acclaimed by critics everywhere as even better than "In Old Arizona," so you will know there is a big treat in store for you. On the same bill with "The Great Divide" will be shown Lloyd Hamilton in a screamingly funny talking comedy called "Toot Sweet," a Bouncing Ball Novelty and the Metro News Reel.

DUCK DISEASE IS STUDIED AT UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

Following a lengthy investigation into possible causes for the death of numerous wild ducks on feeding grounds along the valley regions of the Pacific Coast, Paul A. Shaw, instructor in chemistry in the College of Pharmacy and research associate in Hooper Foundation of the University of California, has just published the third of a series of reports showing an apparent correlation between the amount of salts in feeding ground soil and duck deaths.

In his introduction, Shaw says: "It has been shown (in Hooper Foundation) that oral administrations of certain inorganic salts, alone or in combination, are definitely toxic for ducks. The greatest toxicity in these experiments was found in sodium chloride and sodium sulphate mixtures containing in addition either magnesium or bicarbonate together with nitrate ions. The symptoms exhibited by the birds after feeding with these mixtures resembled in many respects those noted in duck disease."

Following these studies which showed that such salts were capable of producing death in ducks, Shaw set out to discover whether the presence of such salts could be demonstrated in the soil of feeding grounds where "duck disease" is known to have been prevalent.

He found a considerable difference in the salts content of the soils of disease and non-disease areas, particularly in the case of nitrate. He says: "The amounts of nitrate ions from disease and non-disease areas alone show a marked difference, being practically zero in non-disease areas studied, while from 50-250 milligrams per 10 grams of soil were found in all but two of 11 samples from two of the three disease areas examined. This observation is particularly significant in view of the marked toxicity noted in ducks as a result of artificial feeding with salt mixtures of sodium chloride and sodium sulphate, containing nitrate ions and also magnesium or bicarbonate ions.

"Two additional factors indicate that nitrate may play an important role in the incidence of "duck disease." Sodium nitrate is several times more soluble than the corresponding chloride and sulphate. One may therefore expect nitrate to become an appreciable factor in surface alkali only at the hottest and driest time of the year. In addition, nitrate is also increased at this time through bacterial decompositions of organic matter. These considerations correspond to the usual incidence of the duck malady in late summer and fall."

The indications of this work, it is pointed out, are that ducks in feeding, swallow a certain amount of soil, and that the salts in the soil poison them. During the season when the so-called "duck disease" is prevalent, hundreds of ducks are found dead.

DEVOTION TO PUBLIC DUTY

"Just as certainly as average citizens seek shelter in times of storm, telephone linemen must prepare to face the elements and repair inevitable line damage. Their task is a rugged one under the best of conditions in winter, while on occasions such as last week almost superhuman effort is required of them.

"That this loyal group of workmen realize their public duty is best evidenced by the speed with which interrupted communication is restored and our isolated homes linked up with the uttermost parts of the land."—The Aegis of Bel Air, Md.

FISH AND GAME NOTES

By J. H. NEUSTADT

The efforts of our volunteer wardens captained by A. C. Ames, the work of the predatory animal committee, headed by J. L. McDonald, and the work of other members of the San Mateo County Fish and Game Protective Association is recognized and apperciated, and to them all it will be of interest to know that such voluntary effort is duplicated by never tiring sportsmen in other parts of the state and all receive the unstinted praise of the Bureau of Natural Resources.

This past year men were formed to accompany pack trains into the high Sierras to plant trout in streams and lakes in almost inaccessible places.

A party was captained by deputy F. A. Bullard starting from General Grant park for the north fork of Kings river to plant golden trout in the barren waters at the head of Blue canyon and Alpine creek, tributaries of middle fork of Kings river.

Operations were quickly started to gather trout of adult size from nearby sterams and transplant in barren water. Plants were made in Beuch valley, Fleming creek, and Evolution valley where Goddard creek and its chain of lakes are located.

Starting at 6 A. M., in two hours the end of the trail was reached, when began an eight hour hike, each man carrying a pack can, weighing 50 pounds on his back, over rough country and no trails.

Only loyalty to the Division of Fish and Game and an unselfish desire to aid sportsmen of the future who visit this alps of America could have prompted the sportsmen of Fresno to undertake this service.

All the plants which are going on in accessible places will secure a paradise for fishers when roads are made and in the meantime fish will have a chance to multiply unmolested for some years to come.

In his write-up of a home talent play an Oklahoma editor commended a neighbor for his "clever impersonation of a gentleman."

TRAFFIC SAFETY ESSAY CONTEST FOR STUDENTS

Local school children have an opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge of traffic safety in the ninth annual street and highway essay contest for elementary schools announced by the public safey department of the California State Automobile Association. The contest is conducted throughout the United States annually by the Highway Education Board and is handled in this section by the Automobile Association.

The contest, open to all elementary pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, 14 years and under, is for the best essays on the subject, "What I Am Doing to Set a Good Example in Safety on the Highways." There is also a contest for teachers for the best lessons on the subject, "Teaching the Essentials of Street and Highway Safety."

Gold, silver and bronze medals are awarded to first, second and third prize winners in each state in the contest for school children, in addition to checks for $15, $10 and $5 respectively. All essays by the children and lessons by the teachers competing must be handed to the school principals by May 9.

A DREAMER AND HIS DREAM

Calvary Baptist Chapel welcomes as its pulpit guest this Sunday Rev. Adrian Waldo Pasha. Mr. Pasha is the author of the book "The Laws of Life," and was for years editor of a Jewish newspaper. He is now a student at the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School.

A person who can truthfully say that they have never had a dream is not to be found. A person who can successfully apply his dream with a definite meaning to modern life is also very hard to find. We all have dreams, but our dreams either border on the sublime or the ridiculous, and the majority will be found in a decision for the ridiculous if they were put to a test. About 3700 years ago Jacob had a dream which had a meaning applicable to modern life. The term Jacob's ladder has been commonly used to describe a run in a stocking or any other garment of a material that is subject to runs, with never a thought as to its origination or its significance to our every day life. Mr. Pasha in his discourse next Sunday evening on "Jacob's Dream and its Meaning in Modern Life," will explain to his hearers just what Jacob's ladder and the angels he saw ascending and descending on it signifies in modern life. In the morning Mr. Pasha's subject will be "David's Knowledge of God."

J. J. FAHEY ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY FOR CITY COUNCILMAN

The friends of Mr. John J. Fahey will be pleased to hear that he has announced his intention to run for the office of City Trustee of Daly City.

Mr. Fahey is well known throughout San Mateo county, particularly in this city, having lived here and been in business here for a great many years, in which time he has made a large circle of friends. Mr. Fahey's folks were pioneers of this county, having settled on the coastside around 1870, where his father and later he and his brothers were engaged in farming for many years.

Mr. Fahey has been in the real estate business in this part of the county for several years, and this has brought to his attention the needs and wants of our city and its citizens.

He and his family, which consists of Mrs. Fahey and their two sons and daughter, have made their home on Irvington street for the past seven or eight years.

Mr. Fahey is well known for his integrity, and spotless record in all of his dealings.

He knows what the city needs, and pledges himself to give the best that is in him to further the interests of our city, and thus make Daly City not only "A Good Place to Live," but a better place to live.

DEATH OF MRS. MARIE BURKE

Mr. and Mrs. August Hansen, of Acton street, are receiving the sympathy of their many friends upon the death of Mr. Hansen's mother, Mrs. Marie Hansen Burke, who passed away at the age of 71, after a brief illness, in Riverside, California, last Monday at 10:30 A. M.

She leaves a family consisting of Mrs. Walter Rice, of Oakland, Mr. August Hansen, of Daly City, and Louis and Charles Hansen, of Oakland. Mr. Hansen, who has been confined to his bed, seriously ill, for the past week, was unable to attend his mother's funeral, which was conducted in Riverside by the Orange Circle of Women of Woodcraft, on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Hansen attended the funeral, being accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. E. Rice, of Oakland.

Commenting on a Senate debate, the magazine Time points out that Abraham Lincoln was once a railroad attorney, having served both the Illinois Central and the Rock Island in that capacity. If he were up for confirmation by the Senate today he would probably be denounced by a certain element because of his corporation connections.

Now that the pitch of the "Star Spangled Banner" has been lowered to accommodate the ordinary voice, a good many Americans will have to get busy and brush up on the words. —Christian Science Monitor.

Customer: "So you've got rid of that pretty assistant you had."

Druggist: "Yes, all my gentlemen customers kept saying that a smile from her was as good as a tonic."—The Humorist (London.)

From the H. H. Smith Lumber Yard

VOLUME 3 FRIDAY, MARCH 14, 1930 NUMBER 33

Published in the interests of the People of Daly City and vicinity by H. H. Smith and Employees.

Wife: "Did you mail that letter I gave you?"

Hubby: "Yes, dear, I carried it in my hand so I wouldn't forget it, and dropped it in the first box. I remember because—"

Wife: "There, dear, don't say any more. I didn't give you a letter to mail."

"Never do that again, John."

"Heh?"

"Never honk for me to come out of church."

Her Fire Alarm

First Stenog: "Did you observe Fire Prevention Week?"

Second Ditto: "Yes, I got into the office earlier; the boss was getting sore."

Square people, not square miles, make a country great.

Small Boy: "Pa, what did prehistoric monsters look like?"

Father: "I don't remember. Ask your mother."

Teacher: "What is the matter with your siging? You are simply screeching."

Student: "Only hittin' on one tonsil."

We carry a complete line of Builders' Hardware.

Esteemed Colleague

Messenger, to newsboy: "Who's the swell guy ye was talkin' to, Jimmie?"

Newsboy: "Aw, him an' me woiked togedder fer years. He's the editor of one of my papers."

ABERDEEN and American Block, the Coal that satisfies.

Rah! Rah!

"How do you play hookey from the correspondence school?"

"I send them an empty envelope."

When you think of Building, think of H. H.

Tourist: "You've got a big farm here, but it's all covered with rocks. I don't see how you make a living on it."
